

Royal Holloway is a finalist for three Academic Venue Awards

Royal Holloway has been recognised as a finalist for three Academic Venue Awards, in the Best Catering Service, Best Accommodation and Best Wedding Venue categories for commercial guests.

The Best Catering Service Award rewards the hard efforts of an academic venue that's catering service has produced a first in class offering, from menu versatility and customer service, to operational management and financial success.

The Best Accommodation Award will be awarded to the academic venue whose facilities are a cut above the rest, with a sublime space for delegates to unwind or work, excellent amenities and a customer first attitude.

The winner of the Best Wedding Venue Award will have demonstrated a proactive relationship with organisers on a plethora of successful weddings, have invested in their wedding offering and chalked up significant financial and business growth.

Director of Commercial Services, Gillian Almond commented "It is a fantastic achievement for Royal Holloway to be shortlisted for three awards. It is testament to the high standards, hard work and dedication of the teams and I am delighted that their efforts have been recognised".

The winners in each category will be announced in late November.
